THEIR FLIGHT NOW DESPERATE

Another officer was badly wounded.

The bandits, four in number, swept down on Willow Creek early today, firing from both sides of their small automobile. They dashed into the Howard general store, threatened clerks and escaped with a small safe said to contain approximately $6,000.

Racing to the north they encountered a posse from Burnt Ranch at Myers bridge, three miles north of Willow Creek. Deputies and bandits opened fire.

The Kiwanians plan to help the scouts by contributing money for scout activities, and furthering every beneficial undertaking of the troop. The Kiwanis club is highly responsible for the present Boy Scout and high school band, having solicited the money for the instruments. They regretted that they could not offer similar help to the Girl Scouts, who have been very active under the leadership of Mrs. Kenneth McGeorge, but hope that the women's organization of the town will aid them.

The selecting of the scout objective for the year is largely due to the efforts of L. B. White, local scoutmaster here and the chairman of the troop since its first organization. Kiwanians were entertained immediately following the luncheon by "Sling" Myers and "Shorty" Gardner of Ashley, who offered several popular vocal numbers with bongo accompaniment.

Gene to Pay Pards for Bouts

Champion's Action Follows Extinction of Camp Fighters from Card

By DAVE J. WALSH

REGULATORY, N. Y., July 12.—It began to dawn upon the writer to day that possibly some one has been making a big mistake about Gene Tunney and it isn't the guy who said he was all right. One, as a matter of fact, could hardly go wrong any longer on this point or what happened in the champion's camp this morning. Just as he proved himself a fighter when he put up off the nose of his neck in the seventh round at Chicago, he did another thing this morning and proved himself a man.

Without suggestion or solicitation of any kind, he informed his sporting partners that the purses they were to have received for appearing on the Tunney-Heenev card on the night of July 26—a program now destined for extinction by the boxing commission—would be paid by him in full. It isn't publicity prattle, either. Tunney, to this moment, is unaware that anyone knows of the proposition, beyond his official family.

The matter came to front and center when a wire from Richard Heenev informed the camp of the commission's intention and Tunney immediately took charge.

I WANT you fellows to know that you are going to lose nothing by this decision," was the purport of his opening remarks. "I will make plenty of money out of this fight. So forget about the money you think you are going to lose. I'll make it good to you and gladly."

He had no comment on the commission's expressed desire to bar the sporting partners of both camps from the program, beyond saying that if this was to be the procedure in the future, a champion will have his troubles looking up good men to take his daily abuse.

A SITUATION such as this once was good for a notable blast from the champion but Tunney either is getting smart in this in this respect or is receiving sounder advice or both. In receiving the advice matter, I suspect Steven Hannagan, the official buffer, who bluffs readily and quickly while you wait. Anyhow, there is no doubt that Tunney and the newspapermen are far from the mutually distrustful specimens they were at Stroudsburg and late at Lake Villa.

Indirectly, this state of affairs has brought an outlet in laudatory comment. Of course, even a blind man riding bareback would sense the fact that the physical Gene Tunney today is all that anyone could ask. He is as "right," in a physical sense, at this moment as he ever will be in his life again. No, the boys, looking at this perfection of health and feeling strangely mellow in their altered relationship with him, ap-

SHOVELS DEFEAT C. D. & M.

OSGOOD TAKES LEAD AS DOPE UPSETS IN RECREATION LEAGUE

Games Next Week May Determine Winner of Loop Pennant

By KARL R. McELROY

Sports Editor, The Star

After handing the C. D. & M. recreation nine a defeat, the Marion Steam Shovel Club entry in the Industrial league is the cause of many heated arguments around the "dope" circle at the Y. M. C. A.

As a matter of fact the victory of the Shovels last night came as such a big surprise to most followers of the league that the only thing that can be said today is that they will win the league pennant.

This may be the case but one other team still remains ahead of the Shovels. However, this question may be decided next week when the Shovels and Osgood clash. With a victory the Shovel team can tie up the league leadership among three teams. If this is the case, then there is a chance of the season ending in a tie with a playoff necessary before the little world series can be started.

Three Other Good Clubs

That, of course, is going just a bit too far ahead in the matter. In considering the league standings and the possible winners of the flag, one must not lose sight of three other good clubs in the loop. Fairfield has been going exceptionally strong during the past several weeks steadily rising in the percentage column. The Eric Roundhouse team has been getting the wrong side of the breaks but may spring into life when least expected. Hocking Valley, with good pitching, has been ragged in fielding and hitting. This nine may get back its lost strength at anytime and it will be just too bad if one of the leaders clashes with them at the wrong time.

However, last night's results only go to show that no team in Marion recreation leagues have a sure fire hold on the flag. This unexpected may happen at anytime and when it does—well it will be just too bad, that's all.

Two More Good Games

Two real good games developed out of last night's schedule. Both these games were won by the way of the shutout route. The Shovels blanked perceived to be seeing his daily performance through the rose tints of partiality.

C. D. & M. 5 to 0 while the Osgood nine was whitewashing the Eric Roundhouse, 1 to 0. The latter contest was one of the best played here this season by both teams.

Fairfield enjoyed a quiet little slugfest in defeating Huber, 21 to 2. General Excavators forfeited their contest to the Hocking Valley.

FINALS SCHEDULED FOR YACHT RACES

Murky Weather on Tap for Inter-Lake Class R Competition

Put in last, July 14—Murky weather was on tap early today with the finals of the Inter-Lake Class R yacht races scheduled here. The Gosson, representing the Bay View Yacht club, Toledo, skippered by E. L. Kuefer, went to the starting line a favorite to cop the honors, due to the sterling performance of the craft in yesterday's races.

Although finishing second in the Richardson elimination yesterday afternoon, Prevailing sentiment indicated that the Gosson would be chosen to compete in the Rochester trophy race August 4. The ship finished first in the morning race but was beaten out by the Lightning, DuPont Boat club entry, skippered by M. R. Hanny, in the matinee event. However, when finishing third, the Gosson will be able to win the Koehman, Parsons and Northrup trophies in the present regatta, it was said.

The Quiver, Gosse Pointe Y. C., Detroit, Joe Lodge, skipper, was in fourth place when today's races got under way. The Elvira, Buffalo entry, was third.

Following a squall and this afternoon and the Yachtsmen's ball tonight the regatta will come to an end.

JINX FOLLOWS OHIO STATE ATHLETES IN OLYMPIC ATTEMPTS

George Simpson, Dash Star, Latest Olympic Casualty from Buckeye Ranks

Columbus, July 12.—A jinx seems to follow track athletes so far as Olympic competition is concerned.

Jack in 1912 "Tom" Cooke and Garret Wilcox made the U. S. team. Wilcox failed to encounter any mishaps but Cooke, running in the American sprint relay, saw participation in a new World's record scratched from his grasp when the baton was dropped near the tape.

In 1920, W. D. Griffith, then holder of the Western conference javelin throw, qualified for the final trials for the American team in his specialty only to be obliged to drop from competition a week before the finals with a strained back.

In 1924, Larry Snyder, now assistant track coach at Ohio State, was one of the big guns in American hurdling. In the district Olympic trials, his times in the 400 and 110-meter hurdles were among the best in the country. In his last "trial" race, however, he incurred a slight leg injury.

That same year, George Guthrie, a teammate, made the team in the high hurdles. One of the final Olympic races in the 110-meter hurdles, showed Guthrie in the lead on the sixth hurdle. At the seventh he spilled over the barrier, came in third but was set down to sixth for his mishap.

The latest Olympic casualty in Buckeye ranks is George Simpson, star sophomore dash man. Beaten by only one man in the United States this season, Simpson, smothered the Olympic 100 in the 100 meters at Harvard, winning both his preliminary heats.

In the final he was leading the field at the 75-yard mark when a pulled toe-rop crippled him, cost him the race and a trip to Amsterdam. "Pete" Anson, a teammate, was just outside the money in three events. With four men to place, he was fifth in the broad jump and also in the hop, step and jump and was well up among the high jumpers.

ATHLETES WORKOUT ABOARD STEAMSHIP

Find Three Stowaways on President Roosevelt; Two Under Arrest

On Board S. S. President Roosevelt, via radio, July 13.—All the American athletic teams enroute for the Olympic games at Amsterdam, except the track team, had a light workout today on shipboard.

Lawson Robertson, of Pennsylvania, head track and field coach, says there will be very little running on board. The men will go through the motions on mats and through calisthenics instead.

The New York athletes raised a fund to pay the passage of Frank Hussey, one of the three stowaways found on board yesterday. Hussey was former national sprint champion. The Olympic committee has provided Hussey with the necessary credentials, although he will not compete in any events.

The other two stowaways—Hug Leinster, San Francisco hurdler, and Clyde Blanchard, University of Arizona hurdler—are still under arrest, and are confined to the ship's brig.

BE CAREFUL

Big League Scout To Look Over Players at Game Here Sunday

WHEN Harley Kasper takes the mound for Basco's Barberton baseball team against Marion Eagles at Libeca park Sunday afternoon, what staff he has to show in the fray may result in his being given a chance in the big league show.

At least that's the "scandal" that is buzzing around in Marion baseball circles today after a telegram was received here from Connie Mack's Athletics inquiring as to the time the contest will start. It was reported that a scout will look over the star hurler.

Kasper has been showing some real stuff this season, according to press reports. He is expected to come tough opposition from the Eagles batsmen as the local aggregation may be a stambling block between his present position and a major league berth.

HEENEY CAMP HEARS NEWS OF BOUT WITH TUNNEY THIS MONTH

Commission Asks New Zeland To Make Deposit of $10,000

Fair Haven, N. J., July 12.—The news was just leaked out here at Ramon farm that Thomas Heenev has been selected to fight Gene Tunney for the heavyweight championship of the world at the Yankee stadium on the night of July 26. For the last month there have been strong rumors to this effect and Heenev has been getting himself into shape to meet any emergency but the nomination was not confirmed until yesterday when a wire was received from Bert Stand, secretary of the New York boxing commission.

"You really must come over some day before next Monday," advised Stand, "and deposit $10,000 as a bet for appearance against Tunney on July 26."

"Stroke me pink," ejaculated Sam John Mortimer, Heenev's manager, at that isn't a bit of a poser. Who would have thought that good old Tom was going to get the big chance after all? But why do they want two thousand pounds? Of course they will show up. He'll be a bit of a fast one but wouldn't he?"

On top of the summons issued to the boxing commission comes word that Reg Rickard will run down next Tuesday to formally notify Heenev of the contest and submit the official contract.

Spurred on by his children's stories of fortune, Heenev got about the lack of getting ready for the fight. As a result he had an outdoor struggle he lost by an outdoor ring last night and drew a great gathering of society folks and great Jersey mosquitoes under the glare of a cluster of powerful lamps suspended from the canopy of the big

Nordica Hotel, One of Few Old Landmarks of Early Marion, To Be Razed to Make Way for New Building

In Operation as Lodging House Since Construction in 1876

WHEN the old Nordica hotel on West Center st., is razed to the ground next week one of the few remaining landmarks of early Marion will disappear. The old hotel, in operation since it was built in 1874, will be replaced by modern business rooms and once again will the "old order" give way to the new.

For more than a the old lodging house has served the purpose for which it was built by Xavier Herrmann when only five other dwellings made up West Center st. While now it occupies the center of industrial Marion, in those days it sat on a swampy expanse of land with what was known as "Goose Creek" at its rear. Board sidewalks were used in front built four and one-half feet above the ground so that pedestrians might proceed without walking in water.

The only other old West Center st. dwelling which survived time is the Fish residence now being razed that a business house may be built.

Named in 1892 It was not until after 1893 when George Kells leased the hotel that it received the name by which it has since been known. Shortly after acquiring the lease on the lodging house, Mr. Kells attended a grand opera in Columbus and heard Madame Nordica, one of the most famous opera singers of her day. Taking the performance and attractive personality of the celebrity he decided to name the hotel after her. From that time it has been known as the Nordica Hotel.

Not long after it had acquired its new name, Madame Nordica passed through Marion, and, noting the name of the hotel from her train, stopped and spent an afternoon there. She was a hotel guest at dinner that day and in the afternoon was photographed in front of the building which had been named in her honor.

While one of the first, Madame Nordica was not the only celebrated patron of the hotel, for in its early years when Marion was fast becoming a railroad terminal, Jay Gould, Russell Sage and other prominent railroad officials stopped there for the night. Theodore Roosevelt is said to have stopped there during the years he was

A little frame building to be known as the "depot" was built in 1890 where the Union station now stands.

After Mr. Kells retired Herrman

Kalkbrenner, Pleasant pk., leased the building and operated it as a hotel until three months ago. The original owner, Mr. Herrmann, died 27 years ago and his widow, Mrs. Mary E. Schaefer Herrmann, five years ago. The present owners are the heirs, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Herrmann, Mrs. Ida Krause and Mrs. Elsie Fairbanks, 244 South Greenwood st.

BY FRANCES JENNINGS

A DEPARTURE from the usual run of realistic stories in Marie Perle's new novel, "The Be-Butterfly," which the rather false-sounding title of a converted "be-butterfly" is to make up a story that she has called "pleasant reading." The author's delicate humor comes out in an unusual plot with a happy ending to make the story a fiction.

The story centers around a house-painter, middle-aged and wealthy, who convinces himself with the belief that he is a semi-paraloid and a professional philanthropist. He is disappointed out of disappointed in his own Francis Courtenay, the

"be-butterfly" with a taste for dancing and dances.

"The worm turns" when the elder Courtenay, who had threatened to disinherit his nephew for the latter's interest in a professional dancer, leaves the "lap of luxury" and by his own efforts becomes a famous architect. Meanwhile his uncle, driven to a frenzy by a beautiful socialist worker who at his own invitation attempts to teach him a more human philanthropy, transforms himself into something along the be-butterfly type and himself marries the dancer.

Of course the younger Courtenay marries the socialist worker and the tale ends with the "family" prepared for a new start in life.

On the whole, Mrs. Oemler's book is amusing, with witty conversations and brilliant descriptions, but not one to be taken too seriously. It is indeed, a "comedy of manners."

Britain's top summer reading are "Octavia," Margaret Asquith's story of the growing-up and marriage of an English girl in the sporting society seen "The Battle of the Horians," by Sylvia Thompson, in which the author of "Hounds of Spring" pictures the difficulties of an American girl married to an English husband and his whole family; "Eve's Apples," a fantastic satire on the newest manifestation of the jazz age in London by William Gerhardie; "But Gentlemen Marry Brunettes," by Anita Loos, of "Gentlemen Prefer Blacks," describes the trials and triumphs of America's friend, Dorothy; "The Lion Within," spiritual problems of a Jewish family in America as told by Luitv. Lewishson; and "The Bride of

San Luis Rey. Thornton Wilder's popular and extremely unusual novel in which an attempt to "justify the ways of God to man" is made through the deaths of five widely different persons.

Non-fiction, best-sellers, as selected by Britanno's last week included "The Intelligent Woman's Guide to Socialism and Capitalism," an earnest plea and argument for equality of income as the basis of the socialistic Utopia, by George Bernard Shaw; "The Huns of the House of Rothschild," by Egon Caesar Count Corti, who uses as his theme the historical and economic significance of a great international banking house; "The Naked Truth," the candid autobiography of a woman journalist and sculptor by Clare Sheridan; "Sunset Gun," cynical rhymes on love and life by Dorothy Parker; Samuel Hofferstein's "Poems in Praise of Practically Everything," a collection of poems of life; and "The Son of Man," Emil Ludwig's version of the human life of Christ.

The side compartments, opening at the ends, hold lipstick, eye shadow, eyebrow brush, and a small pair of scissors.

Speaker Declares Present Plan is Defeating Purpose of Athletics in Colleges

Players Are Mere Pawns Who Move According to Ideas of Coach," Says Dr. F. R. Rogers in Talk Before Kiwanis Club

Declaring that the present plan of athletics in colleges is defeating its purpose, Dr. F. R. Rogers, director of public health and physical education of the University of New York, launched an attack against the too efficient coach in an address before the members of the Kiwanis club at the weekly luncheon at Hotel Harding yesterday noon.

The principle of athletic education, he declared by the speaker, are to develop courage, quick thinking and a spirit of fair play. These virtues, he said, were exactly opposite to that which is being taught by the present school and college coach.

The players are mere pawns, who are moved about according to the ideas of the coach, he said. They play the game in this way and he receives the credit for the ability of the team.

Rule Adopted

As the result of a campaign waged in New York state by himself as director of public health and physical education, a rule is being adopted in many of the schools and colleges which makes it impossible for the coach to take any part in the game whatever. Changes in the lineup are made and the game carried on without any suggestions from the coach whatever. The only right that is reserved by him is the power to remove any player who in his opinion is injuring himself by continuing in the game. A player thus removed cannot be put back into the game, which takes away the power of the coach during a contest.

This plan, the speaker continued, is teaching the players to think for themselves and to depend upon their own ability, rather than upon the coach. It is accomplishing the purpose of athletics and is developing a higher sense of responsibility, the ability to think quick and greater courage.

"If New York state should be the only state to adopt this rule," the speaker predicted, "boys and girls coming from that state would have a distinct advantage over the children of other states because of this physical training."

Winning Motive of Coach

Character, culture, citizenship and better health, he said, would follow the adoption of this rule. It would reduce the powers of the coach whom, he said, had but one motive under the present rule, that of developing a team to win at any hazard. Winning the game, he said, was the most important part of the contest.

A letter from Mrs. George E. Turner thanking the club for the money received in the campaign for a fund to purchase a home for the family of Harry Hill, was read at the luncheon yesterday. It was also announced that the club would have as the speaker at the luncheon next week, William Pickers, candidate for the office of lieutenant governor on the Democratic ticket.

A musical program was furnished during the luncheon by a talking machine supplied by William Dowler of Dowler's Music store.

A man in the city may grow so long-since he has to get out and roam the streets, and yet he remains a stranger trying to be sociable.

If people would only put on their religion when they put on their Sunday clothes, in some cases even that would be something.

I have a method for growing hair on bald heads which will make the most skeptical sit up and take notice. I don't ask you to believe—all I ask you to do is come and see!

Don't accuse me of being another "fakir." Bartlett's Drug Store has too good a reputation to permit me to put over a false proposition. Also, my hair growing demonstrations have been going on for a long time in the best drug stores throughout Ohio, West Virginia and Pennsylvania. That speaks for itself.

Long years of scientific study and work on bald heads perfected my hair growing method. It is a simple method based on every law of nature. Your entire scalp is reconstructed by following my system. In the privacy of your own home you treat yourself. The cost is small and your entire growth of hair will be back to you in an amazingly short time.

Thousands have regrown their hair by following my method. It will do as much for you! Your scalp doesn't differ from any other! And you have no right to be bald unless you are born bald. Nature meant for you to have a healthy growth of hair. Neglect causes loss and it can then be regrown! Thousands have regrown their hair by following my method. It will do as much for you! Your scalp doesn't differ from any other! And you have no right to be bald unless you are born bald. Nature meant for you to have a healthy growth of hair. Neglect causes loss and it can then be regrown! Remember my friend, the same elements that grow the hair around the ear line and on the face grow the hair on top of the head!

Signatures of your hair or scalp trouble or the length of time you have been bald or getting bald, come to Bartlett's Drug Store tomorrow for a free and private examination. A healthy head of hair will be your reward.

DRY OFFICIAL HITS SMITH STATEMENT

Falls To Assure Prohibition Enforcement, Cherrington Asserts

Westerville, O., July 13—Governor Al Smith of New York is unsatisfactory to those who wish the 18th amendment retained and the prohibition law enforced, Dr. Ernest H. Cherrington, general secretary of the World League Against Alcoholism, summed up his opinion of the attitude of dry advocates throughout the nation.

Dr. Cherrington was answering a campaign statement advanced by advocates of Governor Smith's candidacy which declared: "So long as he promises to enforce the law, it doesn't make any difference what a president believes about the principle of prohibition."

"The oath the president takes is that he will 'preserve, protect and defend' the constitution of the United States," Dr. Cherrington declared. "Whoever is elected, takes that oath. The governor of a state takes practically the same oath."

"It is clearly impossible for one to 'preserve, protect and defend' the 18th amendment to the federal constitution without legislation by congress, because there is no constitution that enforces itself."

"If, on the recommendation and at the urging of the president, congress should amend the Volstead act so as to make it legal for the states to choose their own percentages; and the definitions should run as might be expected, all the way from one-half of one per cent in one state to 15 per cent in another state; could such a condition be said to be preserving, protecting and defending the federal constitution?"

"Yet that is the proposition which one of the candidates, namely, Governor Smith, has made."

STIRS SOCIETY

Summers that Mrs. Marshall Field, wife of the American multimillionaire, has decided to sue for divorce, has shaken the son to his foundations. Mrs. Field, the former Evelyn Marshall, is as well known in Paris and London as she is in Chicago and New York.

DENIES CHARGES

Defendant Asks Judgment of $50 in Answer to Petition

A general denial of the charges contained in the petition of the plaintiff together with a plea for a judgment of $50 to pay the damages sustained by his car, was contained in an answer and cross petition filed in municipal court yesterday by Edwin P. Irwin, 181 Garhart st., defendant in a damage suit brought by James A. Bent, 530 East Farming st.

Bent in his petition filed several days ago, asked a judgment of $50 for damages sustained by the loss of a car, which was damaged in a collision with a Dodge coupe being driven by Irwin on the morning of July 4. Bent charged the accident was due to the careless manner in which Irwin was driving. In his cross petition filed yesterday, Irwin charges Bent with being guilty of reckless driving.

The defendant in his answer avers he was driving north on Greenwood st. at about 10:30 o'clock in the morning of July 4 and was about five feet from the curb, when Bent coming from the opposite direction on the wrong side of the street crashed into him.

WINS CONTEST

James Graham Wins Slogan for Peanut Canners

Qualifications other than the mere ability to figure grades and draw plots and maps, has been displayed by James Graham, assistant city engineer, who several days ago, received a letter from a peanut concern in the southern part of the United States, which informed him he had been declared a winner in a recent contest conducted by a company for a slogan.

Several weeks ago the assistant engineer in answer to an advertisement asking for slogans, forwarded the slogan "You Will Buy on Every Bag." In their letter to Mr. Graham, the company stated the slogan would be used on 1,000 billboards throughout the United States as well as being broadcasted to the company in their radio programs.

If poets are born, a lot of them are made in after years.

During July - August Serv-U-Wel Stores will close at noon on Wednesdays.

WHO'S YOUR GROCER?

Not a personal question, but one which you should give deep study. Are you unthoughtfully trading at foreign controlled concerns, who send your money out of town the same day you spend it, or are you patronizing home industries, whose moneys go into the county and city treasuries, pay salaries, build schools, churches and public institutions, pave streets, contribute to our Community Chest without getting "authorization" from out-of-town millionaires, who sometimes do and sometimes don't? Are you with the great mass of people who "Buy in Marion" and who are always willing to help boost our city, that will make it a better and more pleasant place to live? If so, remember this cannot be done by having your money sent out of town. Help Marion grow by trading at a Serv-U-Wel Market and keep the money at home.

LAST CHANCE TO GET BUTTONS FOR PARTY

Kids Must Get Badges by Saturday for Outing Monday

(By Just Kids Safety Club Editor)

Suburban is your last chance to get a button for the "Just Kids Safety Club" party at Crystal Lake Park, Monday, July 18. Better hustle down and get yours, for the supply is running low.

Everything at the park on that day will be three cents a ride, except the roller coaster, and the bathing pool. Swimming will cost nine cents, three cents for checking your clothes, three cents for a towel and three cents for the opportunity to spend a hot day in a cool pool.

And you haven't forgotten that there'll be popcorn, peanuts, and pop, too, all sold at three cents for this special day. You can go riding for a while and then get a cool drink of pop to refresh yourself with.

The park management will have an extra corps of life savers and expert swimmers on duty Monday, so that your mother will not need to worry about you getting into the deeper water outside the pool.

How many of you have asked your mothers about taking your lunches for a supper at the park Monday night? That would be great fun, to eat out under the trees, after the party's all over, and listen to Nipper's 10-piece orchestra.

But what excuse can there be for all the space donated by the papers to the story, though it comes in a presidential year and a presidential candidate of a great political party is at stake?

A Long Island woman was robbed of $1,000 worth of jewelry and money as she returned with her husband from a night club. We hard-working spreaders of joy and sunshine in paragraphs should warn our betters to leave their jewels at home when about to visit night clubs. Display of wealth at night clubs borders onto the vulgar.
